dramatize the Easter story in Passion plays Perhaps the most famous Passion play is performed by the villagers of Oberammergau, in southern Germany It was first performed in 1634 as the result of a vow made by the inhabitants during an outbreak of bubonic plague, and with only three exceptions, the play has been performed every 10 years since

The Paschal Mystery

This led to the Israelites' release from their Egyptian captivity, beginning a major new chapter in the story of salvation history The angel of death recognized the homes of the Israelites because they were marked by the blood of a sacrificial lamb (also called the paschal lamb) The Passover is an important foreshadowing in God's plan of salvation There are many parallels between the

Welcome [en.evlks.de]

The Bible says that long ago, Noah and Abraham built altars to worship God, to thank him for his presence and that he saved them from dangers Jesus too also often invited people to eat with him, share everything with him and experience community He often surprised the pious people, for he invited people who were otherwise excluded: sinners, prostitutes, the poor and sick The Christian
