If these highly polar, large molecules are impurities, they can be removed by use of finely granulated activated charcoal (Norit). Polar compounds (eg, polar impurities) adsorb to the charcoal which is insoluble in the solvent and can be filtered away from solution. Unfortunately, some of your compound inner core consisting of polar and non-polar polymers. This unique composition prevents the migration of contaminants and gases from the ground through the slab thereby protecting building occupants. The nominal thickness is 0.45m. Rolls are 21m x 50m. In areas where cavity wall construction is used a damp proof course (DPC) version is used to provide a gas tight solution. The DPC rolls are
